

Guest Lecture by ICFL

Date – January 23, 2018

Participants – PGDM I, II, MCA I,II,III

The ICICI direct Centre for Financial Learning (ICFL), an educational initiative of ICICI Securities Ltd. recently organised a training programme at Jagran Institute Of management, on 23rd January. The objectives of the camp were: 1. Investment Education 2. Professional Certification & Development among the participants who attended the program. The program was conducted by Mr. Nantu Mahapatra.

All participants and faculty members of the various branches, had gathered at the auditorium at 1pm. Upon arrival the students were given a briefing by Mr. Naveen Arora. The participants in the auditorium were divided into under graduates and post graduates. Then, we were introduced to a stock market simulation game competition-STOCKMIND-6. The participants had to register through their email ids to participate in the competition. All the participants were allotted virtual money amounting to Rs. 15 lacs and had to buy and sell equity shares of top 100 companies as if they were to trade in real market scenarios.

The participants were given 7 market days to trade in the securities and thereafter the member who would be at the highest position would be qualified to compete at the national level.

The participants were also told about the prizes and rewards, which will be awarded to them on participation and winning the completion.

The training program was a huge success because all participants showed tremendous support by actively participating in all the activities throughout the duration of the program.